About Us

Our furniture experiments revolve around the concept of reimagining sustainable practices of woodworking that involve age-old traditions of using natural wood, finishes, and polishes. Over six years, we've learned the art of designing that transforms spaces into timeless works of art, defined by organic forms that adapt effortlessly to any environment.

Our goal is to create contemporary art furniture using traditional & endangered crafts using a base such as wood and introducing our heritage to the rest of the world.

Madhuri Rao

Following her heart into furniture design, architect Madhuri Rao has passionately dedicated herself to crafting tasteful pieces that blend seamlessly into their surroundings. Inspired by nostalgia, culture, and childhood memories, her creations embody sustainability and grace, promising to age beautifully while staying rooted in tradition.

Material Pallet

We see every piece of furniture as a work of art, crafted with a strong commitment to sustainability. Our work primarily uses solid wood, thoughtfully paired with metals, including aluminum castings, to create pieces that are both enduring and refined.

Wood's warmth allows it to pair beautifully with a wide range of materials. We often experiment with different woods and metals, alongside elements such as stained glass, handwoven fabrics, wicker, cane, brass, and ceramics.

Through careful craftsmanship and exploration of finishes for both wood and aluminum, we create furniture that is distinctive, balanced, and made to last.

Finishes

Every project begins with curiosity. New techniques, processes, and careful research guide us before a single piece of furniture is made. We are constantly exploring ways to introduce colour to wood without harsh paints or chemicals. Instead, we create natural pigments and stains from materials like indigo cake, coffee powder, beetroot, natural oils, and laakhdaana. Each pigment reacts differently with the wood grain, creating depth and subtle variations. Once the colour has settled and dried naturally, every piece is finished with a careful oiling process. Alongside wood, we also experiment with different chemical treatments on aluminium to achieve a range of unique finishes and textures.

ALaG

The Collection

ALaG: Of ALloys and Grains

The ALaG furniture collection is a bold exploration of material harmony, blending the raw elegance of wood grains with the industrial allure of alloys. The name itself is an amalgamation of Alloy and Grains, reflecting the core philosophy of the collection—contrasting elements unified in contemporary design. Each piece in the ALaG collection is as unique as an individual, carrying its own distinct personality.

Just like people, these creations are a blend of diverse traits—organic, warm, and grounded like wood; resilient, sleek, and modern like metal. Together, they form a perfect balance, celebrating individuality and diversity. ALaG transforms furniture into functional art, making every piece a statement of originality and character, ideal for those who embrace the beauty of uniqueness in their living spaces.

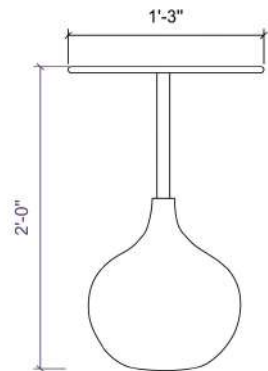

Matka side table

These side tables blend traditional craftsmanship with modern design. The base, sculpted from a single block of wood using lathe techniques, features an onion-like shape inspired by domed finials in Islamic, Buddhist, and Indian architecture, symbolizing harmony and grandeur. The natural circular wood grains enhance the flowing design, showcasing the material's raw beauty.

A textured aluminium plate with a creased fabric pattern forms the top, adding a soft, contemporary touch that contrasts the organic warmth of the wood. This combination of elements strikes a balance between tradition and modernity, creating functional yet artistic furniture pieces.

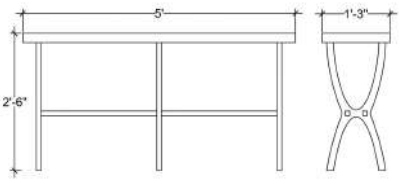

Bow console

Bathed in ambient light, the teakwood console showcases elegance and craftsmanship. Its sleek design is enhanced by a delicate aluminium inlay on the shaded teakwood top, adding texture and visual appeal. Supported by ribbon-like teakwood legs, it exudes modern sophistication with a touch of charm.

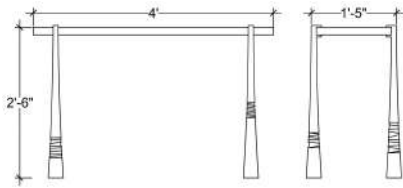

Plug-in console

Crafted with precision, the Plug-in Console Table combines sleek designer aluminium casting with tapered solid wood, creating a striking visual contrast while ensuring durability and stability. The design takes inspiration from the simple yet ingenious practice of folding paper to stabilize wobbling tables, transforming a practical solution into a bold and artistic concept.

This playful yet functional design makes the table a true conversation starter, seamlessly blending practicality with aesthetics. With its unique construction and modern silhouette, the Plug-In Console Table redefines contemporary furniture, making it a stylish and versatile addition to any living space.

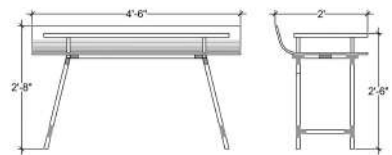

Research Table

The Curved Aluminium and indigo-polished teak wood study table is a stylish blend of functionality and design. Inspired by childhood study experiences, its slanted top offers ergonomic ease for referencing books, while a lower shelf ensures a tidy workspace.

Crafted with precision, the table features a curved aluminium sheet for an industrial touch, topped with a luxurious Indigo Polished Teak Wood surface. A functional gap between the two materials provides storage for essentials. Minimalist round wooden legs with aluminium accents complete this elegant, contemporary piece.

Blue Bench

A versatile and lightweight bench designed for changing décor layouts, combining functionality and rustic charm. Inspired by the traditional veranda benches of old homes, it blends nostalgia with modern aesthetics, fitting seamlessly into traditional or contemporary spaces.

This sleek bench features solid teakwood legs and a gently curved edge on one side, giving it a refined yet functional character. Crafted from teakwood and finished with a rich blue natural pigment, the piece highlights the natural warmth and grain of the wood. Wooden joinery inlays add strength and showcase fine craftsmanship, while the design pairs beautifully with the Matka Side Table for a striking and cohesive combination.

Bench with a Silver Lining

A bench where the legs pierce through the seat, locking into place like a quiet act of defiance. Designed as a modular chain, it can grow endlessly: wood, aluminium, wood extending in rhythm.

Cast aluminium slabs sit between white ash members like a silver lining, subtle yet striking. Finished in natural charcoal, it carries depth and contrast, holding strength in its simplest form.

Alux Interlock Chair

Alux Interlock Chair

Cast entirely in aluminium, this chair holds itself together through interlocking forms, each plane leaning into the next. There is weight, but also movement. Strength, but without stiffness. The brushed metal carries an indigo oil pigment that seeps into the surface, settling into its pores rather than sitting on top. The colour becomes inseparable from the material.

We chose not to erase the casting marks. The textures remain quiet reminders of how it was made.

Alux is about allowing aluminium to be honest, which is raw, structural, and unapologetically itself.

The Collection

Reminiscence

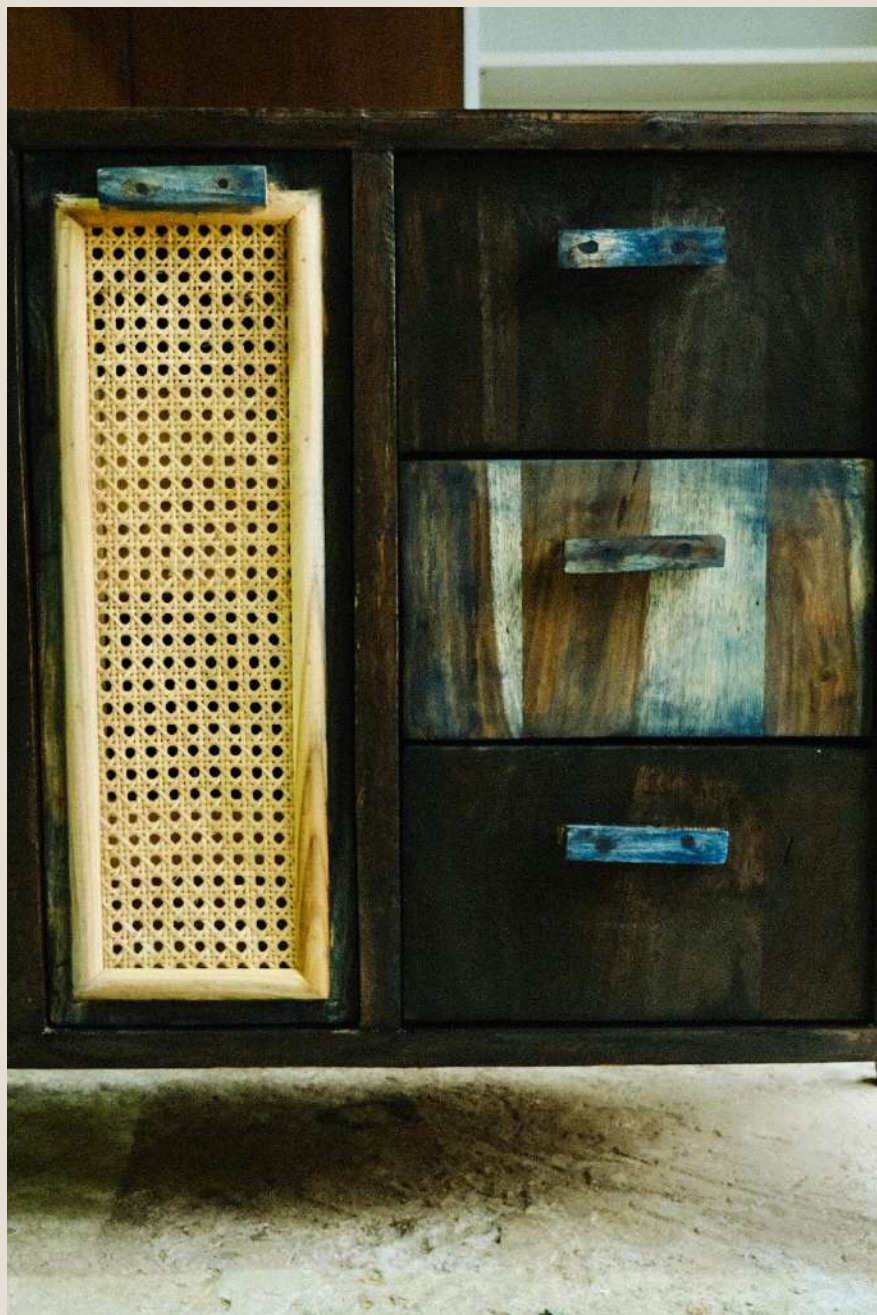

Each Spero Project is a travel back in time, an era that screams nostalgia. This collection brings back "Midcentury Modern" with a twist of functional designs and sustainable methods.

Our furniture experiments revolve around this concept of reimagining sustainable practices of woodwork that involve age-old traditions of using natural wood, finishes, and polishes.

Our continuous effort in making our visitors understand the value of natural wooden furniture and its associated personal attachment has driven us to evolve into a brand that has its own identity and distinctive design ethos.
